Introduction.

The reform plan of Federal Board of Revenue places immense emphasis on the importance of effective taxpayer education and facilitation strategies to encourage voluntary compliance with the tax laws and tax obligations.

The “Taxpayers’ Charter” defines rights and obligations of taxpayers, which will help eliminate the traditional perception and create a new tax culture of mutual trust, confidence and friendly working relationship between the taxpayers and the taxmen.

Who is a taxpayer?

Any person who pays or is obliged to collect, deduct or pay any of the taxes administered by the FBR.

.What does the tax office do?

The primary responsibility of the tax office is to collect due tax under the law within reasonable time ensuring least inconvenience to the taxpayer. For this purpose, Tax Facilitation Centers have been established in all Large Taxpayers Units and Regional Tax Offices, wherein one window operation facility is provided to the taxpayers for swift resolution of their tax-related issues. These offices are manned with
